

Impressions of Govula Shamanth Reddy, Kurnool.

Day 1

Started off feeling shy, but I quickly warmed up. I started talking with people. I soon forgot that I used to be an introvert. I also talked with people from the various villages. I usually am an introvert, but that day I talked. We also learnt about various innovators. Also visited a radio station which had a school as well. But I was put out of action because I bruised my leg.

Day 2

A lot of flyers were distributed that day, and we also chatted with a lot of people on the way. There weren't as many villages as the day before, and the road led us through cotton fields.

I had a really long conversation with Purav bro from HITAM, Hyderabad. We also did a silent walk activity. It turned out to be peaceful, and we also had a midnight walk in the final village of the day. By the time everyone settled down to sleep, it was well past 1 O'clock.

Day 3

Didn't cover as much distance as the past two days, but we walked along a reservoir. The weather was hot and the glare was insane. Water was running low everywhere, we met people who were celebrating an occasion. They let us fill our bottles with cool, refreshing bore water. By the end of the day, we reached our destination carrying not just our bags, but many new experiences from the journey.
